Dear Dr. Lederberg:

Thank you for your review of Kanigel's Apprentice to Genius, which nicely captures the book's contribution to the study of mentor-apprentice relationships in science.

Isis is dependent on the work of people like yourself, and we greatly appreciate your contribution.

As you know, the actual production work on Isis, like most scholarly journals, takes about 9 months. We therefore expect to publish your review in or before the March 1988 issue. You will receive two copies of tearsheets upon publication.

Thanks again for taking the time to write for Isis, and please let me know of other books you might like to review for us from time to time.

All best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Jh Sturchio
